CALIFORNIA COUPLE CLAIM $528M POWERBALL JACKPOT PRIZE

A couple came forward to claim their $528 million prize from a record-setting Powerball jackpot, more than six months after they bought their winning ticket in Chino Hills, California, lottery officials said on Tuesday. There were three winning tickets in the nearly $1.6 billion Powerball jackpot in January, the largest lottery prize ever offered in North America. The holders of two of the winning tickets came forward in Tennessee and Florida within about a month of the drawing, but the third share of the winnings in the multi-state lottery had gone unclaimed until Marvin and Mae Acosta stepped forward. "We finally know who our mystery winners are!" California Lottery Director Hugo Lopez said in a statement. REUTERS

THREE INJURED AS CRANE COLLAPSES ON NEW YORK BRIDGE

2 A large construction crane collapsed on a busy New York bridge on Tuesday, injuring at least three people and snarling traffic in both directions, county officials said. The crane collapsed at about noon on the Tappan Zee Bridge, which is under construction to replace the original span built in the 1950s over the Hudson River. It connects Rockland County in the north to New York City's suburbs. At least three people suffered minor injuries from swerving their cars to avoid colliding with the crashed crane, Rockland County said on Twitter. NBC News aerial footage showed emergency responders pulling at least two people from cars and one being loaded onto a stretcher. Traffic was backed up for miles, the video showed. REUTERS

CIVILIANS BYPASSED AS GUNMAN AMBUSHED BATON ROUGE POLICE

3 The three police officers shot dead in Baton Rouge, Louisiana, were deliberately "targeted and assassinated" by a U.S. Marine Corps veteran who appeared to go out of his way to spare civilians during his assault, authorities said. As evidence of Long's single-minded intent to level his violent rage exclusively at police, authorities cited video footage of the shooting that they said showed him hunting officers while bypassing civilians. Police have declined to say what role race might have played in Sunday's rampage, which killed two white officers and one black officer. Three more officers were wounded, one of them critically. # Bust nets 50 guns, 10 arrests in the Bronx

"Operation Straight Outta Highbridge" yield comes amid a recent rash of shootings in U.S.

The smuggling network was allegedly a "family business." NYPD

Ten men were indicted on Tuesday for charges of gun smuggling and possession of 50 firearms, according to Bronx District Attorney Darcel D. Clark's and New York City Police Commissioner William Bratton's office.

The cache from "Operation Straight Outta Highbridge," which began a year ago, took an AK-47-style assault rifle and semi-automatic pistols off the streets after undercover officers busted a network of alleged gun smugglers north of Yankee Stadium.

"These defendants allegedly sold 50 weapons, and some conspired to bring in 30 more guns to feed their greed at the expense of life and safety in the Bronx," Clark said. "A week before Christmas, they allegedly delivered one of the firearms to the undercover detective gift-wrapped. These instruments of death were just ordinary merchandise to them.

"This case shows, once again, how guns purchased legally in other states can end up on our streets in the hands of criminals. It also highlights the courage and tenacity of our NYPD officers, and I want to thank the Firearms Investigation Unit and specifically the detectives who risked their lives each time they purchased a gun from these defendants."

The guns were smuggled from Allentown, Pennsylvania; Brunswick, New York; Georgia and Houston, Texas.

The defendants are charged with first-degree criminal sale of a firearm, second-degree criminal sale of a firearm, third-degree criminal sale of a firearm, second-degree criminal possession of a weapon, third-degree criminal possession of a weapon and conspiracy. If convicted of the top charge, five of the defendants face up to 25 years in prison.

Seven of the defendants, including two Bronx residents, are due for arraignment on Aug. 4; three others are awaiting extradition. KIMBERLY M. AQUILINA

From cells on the web to mural on the wall

Recipe for a Brooklyn mural: Two female artists a world apart, one blank wall in Bushwick ... and a Google spreadsheet.

The mural as a blank wall, and finished WES TARCA

Artists Marina Esmeraldo, 31, from Barcelona, and Mallory Heyer, 25, from Brooklyn, met for the first time on Wednesday morning in Bushwick at 40 Bogart Street to marvel at the work of art they had labored over for the past month.

Google found the artists through Refinery29, a popular website for women for which Esmeraldo freelances and for which Heyer works as a full-time editorial designer and illustrator. It commissioned them to create a mural using the company's online collaborative spreadsheet applications.

"We were like, what? Why?" said Esmeraldo.

"It was an exciting challenge," said Heyer.

"It felt natural to work with women and female empowerment since we work with the subject quite often at Refinery29," Esmeraldo said.

Michael Bolognino, the product marketing manager at Google, said Google Docs is all about collaboration and allowing people to work together at the same time, wherever they are.

"The idea of this project was two-fold. We wanted to really push the boundaries of a spreadsheet by asking two artists who had never met to create art in a tool that isn't used to create art," Bolignino said.

After the artists finished on Google spreadsheets, Bolignino created a PDF of the art and handed it to Colossal Media, which physically painted the mural.

The Brooklyn-based mural company used an electronic tracing process on butcher paper that burned tiny holes on key lines in the artwork. Colossal then painted the brick wall white and traced the outline of the mural by pounding the butcher paper onto the wall with charcoal-filled socks. It took five days for painters to flesh out the sketch with vibrant hand-mixed paint, converting cells in a spreadsheet to art on a brick wall.

"For [Google] Sheets, breaking the grid means using spreadsheets as a canvas in a way that's not intended to be used. For Refinery29 and the artists, it's about empowering women," Bolignino said of the company's Sheets to Streets project. "It's about breaking women outside of boxes."

The mural depicts eight diverse women. Phrases such as "work hard, slay hard," and "dream big, do big," are printed on the figures' clothing.

"We wanted to make a mural that anyone could pose with and feel like they could be a part of and show that they have power as well," Heyer said. "We didn't want anyone to feel like they were left out."

Bolignino said he thinks the mural sends an positive message.

"It clearly showcases female power, and it showcases both of our brands coming together," he said.

This isn't the first time Google has collaborated with artists. In January, two musicians from Minneapolis and Massachusetts, who had also never met, used Google Docs to write a song. They were flown to Brooklyn to record "Basement Queens," which was then released exclusively on Google Play.

Bolignino said he hopes to produce similar projects in the future.

NY among states suing VW over diesel cheating

Senior executives at Volkswagen AG, including its former chief executive, covered up evidence that the German automaker had cheated on U.S. diesel emissions tests for years, three states charged on Tuesday in civil lawsuits against the company.

New York, Massachusetts and Maryland filed separate, nearly identical lawsuits in state courts, accusing the world's No. 2 automaker of violating their environmental laws. The lawsuits, which could lead to state fines of hundreds of millions of dollars or more, complicate VW's efforts to move past the "Dieselgate" scandal that has hurt its business and reputation, and already cost it billions of dollars.

The suits outlined more than a decade of efforts by VW to deceive regulators in the U.S. and Europe, citing internal VW documents.

VW last September admitted using sophisticated secret software in its cars to cheat exhaust emissions tests, with millions of vehicles worldwide affected. The scandal prompted the departure of VW's CEO and other executives.

The states charged that dozens of VW employees at various levels knew that the company's "clean diesel" engines could not meet pollution standards in normal driving without compromises to performance or fuel economy. The suits publicly identified for the first time many of these employees and accused them of "unlawful conduct."

The suits said at least eight employees in VW's engineering department deleted or removed incriminating data in August 2015 after a senior attorney advised them of an impending order not to destroy documents. The New York suit stated that "some but not all of the data has been recovered." REUTERS

Coney Island beach closed due to shark sightings

The species of shark has not yet been identified.

KIMBERLY M. AQUILINA

The beach near the pier on Coney Island has been closed after reports of shark sightings on Tuesday.

New York City Parks and Recreation closed the beach as a precaution after New York Aquarium authorities spotted sharks close to the shore, according to NBC4.

John Dohlin, director of the New York Aquarium, said identifying the species of shark is "impossible" with the photos and video available. Dohlin also said the fish could be basking sharks (Cetorhinus maximus), which are pretty much harmless to humans despite their menacing appearance. As the world's second largest shark, basking sharks can grow up to 40 feet in length and weigh up to 5 tons, according to the Florida Museum of Natural History.

Basking sharks look scary, but are mostly harmless. GREG_SKOMAL

Dohlin said the sharks off the coast of Coney Island are most likely looking for food.

NYPD aviation and harbor units are still checking out the area, according to NBC4.

Photos capture shark eating seal off Cape Cod in Massachusetts

Researchers recently witnessed a great white shark devouring a seal near Cape Cod beaches, leading marine experts to predict a human attack is inevitable.

Atlantic White Shark Conservancy spotter pilot Wayne Davis captured the "dramatic predation images" of a white shark eating a gray seal off Monomoy National Wildlife Refuge in Chatham Monday, showing a bloody scene in the water.

The social media frenzy around sharks in the Cape Cod area recently included a YouTube video taken by a group of fishermen off of Nauset Beach after they spotted the ocean predator. The boat was participating in a fishing tournament on Saturday, according to MassLive. The creature reportedly swam past the 26-foot vessel several times.

Boston.com also shared photos several years ago after a tourist captured a great white shark attacking a seal close to the beach on the Cape Cod National Seashore.

Great white sharks started to return to the shores of Chatham in 2009 and have come back every summer since, according to National Geographic. Though these sharks are nothing new to Cape Cod, sightings were rare.

The sharks may be happy snacking on seals, but experts predict a human attack is imminent.

"It's not if, it's when, in terms of somebody being fatally attacked. We've got seals being eaten within 100 meters of surfers. Think about that," marine biologist Greg Skomal told the publication. "Cape Cod is coexisting right now but we haven't had the attack; we haven't had that fatal attack." CRISTABELLE TUMOLA

FBI, NYPD seek serial 'Americas Bandit' bank robbers

Authorities are searching for a man and woman who recently robbed two Manhattan banks, with officials alleging the man was also involved in bank robberies dating back to September 2015.

Around 10:30 a.m. on Saturday, July 9, a man and woman robbed the Chase Bank at 204 W. Fourth St. in the West Village after the woman passed a note to the teller demanding money and the man pointed a black firearm at the teller, authorities reported. The Chase employee complied, and the duo departed with cash and headed toward Seventh Avenue.

Surveillance cameras captured this image of the suspects. PROVIDED

The same suspects were also believed to have robbed the Northeast Community Bank at 242 W. 23rd St. on July 5, police said.

The man, according to authorities, acted alone in previous robberies at a Bank of America branch at 670 Avenue of the Americas on June 27, a Citibank located at 395 Avenue of the Americas on Dec. 21 and in two robberies at the Chase Bank at 340 Avenue of the Americas on Sept. 23 and 25 of last year.

The "Americas Bandit" nickname stems from the fact that several of the robberies took place on Manhattan's Avenue of the Americas, ABC7 reported.

Police said the male suspect, described as being in his mid-50s, approximately 180 to 190 pounds and 5 feet 7 inches, has displayed a gun in three of the robberies and is believed to be armed and dangerous, authorities added. JASON NUCKOLLS

Got info?

The FBI-NYPD Violent Crime Task Force is investigating the robberies, and any information regarding this case should be reported to the FBI New York office at 212-384-5000.

Trump gets GOP's official stamp of approval at RNC

Republicans were also set on Tuesday to place in nomination Indiana Governor Mike Pence, 57, Trump's choice for his vice presidential running mate.

After vanquishing 16 party rivals, warring with much of the Republican establishment and sparking controversy at the party convention, Donald Trump on Tuesday secured the party's 2016 nomination for the White House.

His eldest child, Donald Trump Jr., announced the support of New York, their home state, during a roll-call vote at the Republican National Convention, ensuring Trump had the majority of delegates — 1,237 — needed to contest the Nov. 8 U.S. presidential election against presumptive Democratic nominee Hillary Clinton.

With three of the candidate's other children at his side, the younger Trump said: "It is my honor to be able to throw Donald Trump over the top in the delegate count tonight."

"Congratulations, Dad. We love you," he said.

Trump's Democratic rival, Clinton, was quick to respond, tweeting after the vote: "Donald Trump just became the Republican nominee. Chip in now to make sure he never steps foot in the Oval Office."

Trump won with 1,725 delegates, followed by U.S. Sen. Ted Cruz of Texas with 475 delegates, Ohio Gov. John Kasich with 120 and U.S. Sen. Marco Rubio of Florida with 114. Three other candidates emerged with a total of 12 delegates.

After the presidential vote, the convention by voice vote nominated Indiana Gov. Mike Pence, 57, Trump's choice for his vice presidential running mate.

The state-by-state vote to put Trump's name in nomination took place a day after opponents staged a failed attempt to force a vote opposing his candidacy, and after a speech by his wife, Melania, drew accusations of plagiarism.

A wealthy New York real estate developer and a reality TV celebrity, the 70-year-old Trump was a long shot when he entered the race for the Republican nomination more than a year ago, having never held elected office.

Speaker after speaker on Monday, the first day of the four-day convention at Cleveland's Quicken Loans basketball arena, took aim at Clinton, presenting her as out of touch with the concerns of ordinary Americans and the inheritor of President Barack Obama's "oppressive" administration.

Clinton, 68, was due to be formally nominated at the Democratic convention next week in Philadelphia.

Trump initially refused to rule out an independent run should he fail to win the Republican nomination.

Within weeks of announcing his candidacy at Trump Tower in New York on June 16, 2015, Trump had taken a commanding lead in the Republican race, defying pundits who were quick to write him off and eclipsing the man many had thought would be crowned on Tuesday night — former Florida Gov. Jeb Bush, part of a Republican political dynasty.

In a campaign marked by insults and inflammatory rhetoric, Trump tapped into a deep vein of unhappiness running through white Middle America, giving voice to millions who felt left behind in the rush to globalization and who eschewed traditional establishment Republicans like Bush in favor of a brash political outsider who promised to "Make America Great Again."

Opponents branded him a bigot with his calls to temporarily ban the entry of Muslims and to build a border wall with Mexico to keep out illegal immigrants.

Obama tells police: 'We have your backs'

Three police officers were gunned down in Louisiana's capital Sunday by a Marine Corps veteran with ties to an African-American anti-government group, authorities said. On July 7, another former U.S. serviceman espousing militant black nationalist views killed five Dallas officers.

President Barack Obama GETTY IMAGES

President Barack Obama has told law enforcement officials that Americans recognize, respect and depend upon the difficult and dangerous work they do, a rallying call of support following the ambush killings of eight officers in Dallas and Baton Rouge.

"Just as your tight-knit law enforcement family feels the recent losses to your core, our nation grieves alongside you," Obama said in an open letter dated July 18 that was published by the White House on Tuesday.

"Thank you for your courageous service. We have your backs," the president wrote.

Authorities identified the Baton Rouge gunman as former Sgt. Gavin Long of Kansas City, Missouri, an Iraq war veteran, and said he seemed determined to slay as many police officers as possible before a SWAT team marksman cut short his attack.

The single gunshot that killed Long, 29, was fired by an officer from about 100 yards away, police have said as they deepened their investigation into the second racially charged armed assault on U.S. law enforcement this month.

The Dallas shooting happened at the end of an otherwise peaceful protest denouncing the fatal police shootings of two black men days earlier, one of them in Baton Rouge.

Obama said nothing could be more patriotic and professional than police officers protecting demonstrators who were protesting against them, and he said that was a proud example of the country's most basic freedoms. REUTERS

IOC delays decision on banning Russia from Rio Olympics

Russia's participation in the Rio Olympics remained in jeopardy on Tuesday after the International Olympic Committee said it would "explore legal options" for banning the country from the games.

A five-man disciplinary commission was set up to start proceedings against Russian officials mentioned in the report, which described extensive doping and cover-ups at the Sochi Winter Olympics hosted by Russia in 2014.

The IOC also said it would not organize or give patronage to any sports event in Russia, including the planned 2019 European Games, and that no member of the Russian Sports Ministry implicated in the report would be accredited for Rio.

With regard to the participation of Russian athletes in Brazil, the IOC said it would "carefully evaluate" the report by Canadian lawyer Richard McLaren, commissioned by the World Anti-Doping Agency.

The IOC has ordered the immediate retesting of all Russian athletes who took part, as well as a full inquiry.
GETTY IMAGES

"It will explore the legal options with regard to a collective ban of all Russian athletes for the Olympic Games 2016 versus the right to individual justice."

A ban would be humiliating for Russia, which since Soviet times has prided itself on its sporting prowess. President Vladimir Putin has said the affair could split the Olympic movement.

The last such schism was in the 1980s, when the United States and Soviet Union each boycotted Olympics hosted by the rival superpower.

The IOC said it would have to take into consideration a ruling by the Court of Arbitration for Sport (CAS) on Thursday, as well as the World Anti-Doping Code and the Olympic Charter.

CAS is due to rule on the dispute between Russia, 68 of its athletes and the governing body of world athletics, after the country was banned from sending a track and field team to Rio.

The McLaren report said positive doping tests at Sochi were covered up and "dirty" urine samples swapped with "clean" ones with methods developed by the domestic intelligence service, while deputy sports minister Yuri Nagornykh decided which athletes would be protected.

Train attack puts migrant policy back in spotlight

The case is likely to deepen worries about so-called lone wolf attacks in Europe and could put political pressure on Merkel, who has welcomed hundreds of thousands of migrants to Germany over the past year.

A young Afghan who attacked passengers on a train in Bavaria with an ax had entered Germany last summer with a wave of migrants, officials said on Tuesday, raising more questions about Chancellor Angela Merkel's open-door refugee policy.

The 17-year-old, who a witness said shouted "Allahu Akbar" (God is great) during the attack, severely wounded four Hong Kong residents on the train late on Monday, then injured a local woman after fleeing, before police shot him dead.

The attacker came to Germany as an unaccompanied minor and was registered as a refugee on June 30 last year in Passau, officials said.

Germany welcomed about 1 million migrants in 2015, many fleeing war in Afghanistan, Syria and Iraq.

"In the minds of many people, his arrival is directly linked to Merkel and her liberal refugee policies," said Frank Decker, political scientist at Bonn University.

The attack took place days after a Tunisian delivery man plowed a truck into crowds of Bastille Day revelers in the southern French city of Nice, killing 84. Islamic State has claimed responsibility for that incident.

Public support for Merkel has risen since Britain voted on June 23 to leave the European Union, helping reverse a fall in her popularity caused by the refugee crisis. Decker said a Nice-style attack here could quickly end those gains.

Unlike neighbors France and Belgium, Germany has not been the victim of a major attack by Islamic militants in recent years, although security officials say they have thwarted a large number of plots.

A leader of the anti-immigrant Alternative for Germany (AfD) said Merkel and her supporters were to blame for the dangerous security situation because their "welcoming policies had brought too many young, uneducated and radical Muslim men to Germany."

Imam Arbab Ahmad, whose mosque in Wuerzburg lies about 7.5 miles from the scene of the attack, said he feared a backlash against Muslims after the attack.

"I am anxious," he said. "It was a totally inhumane attack on innocent people. Every human being should condemn it, not just Muslims."

Police found a hand-painted Islamic State flag in the refugee's room at his foster family's home, along with a letter he appeared to have written to his father, which officials said read: "And now pray for me that I can get revenge on these nonbelievers, pray for me that I go to heaven."

North Korea fires three ballistic missiles in new show of force

North Korea fired three ballistic missiles Tuesday that flew between 300-360 miles into the sea off its east coast, South Korea's military said, the latest in a series of provocative moves by the isolated country.

The U.S. military said it detected launches of what it believed were two Scud missiles and one Rodong, a home-grown missile based on Soviet-era Scud technology.

North Korea has fired both types numerous times in recent years, an indication that unlike recent launches that were seen as efforts by the North to improve its missile capability, Tuesday's were meant as a show of force.

"This smells political rather than technical to me," said Melissa Hanham, a senior research associate at the U.S.-based Middlebury Institute of International Studies at Monterey, California.

"The number and distance of the missiles lets them remind the ROK [Republic of Korea] of what they are up against," she said, referring to South Korea by its official name.

North Korea and the rich, democratic South are technically still at war because their 1950-53 conflict ended in an armistice, not a peace treaty. The North regularly threatens to destroy the Japan, South Korea and the South's main ally, the United States.

The launches came nearly a week after South Korea and the United States chose a site in the South to deploy the Terminal High Altitude Area Defence (THAAD) anti-missile system to counter threats from the North, which had prompted Pyongyang to threaten a "physical response."

"Our assessment is that it was done as a show of force," a South Korean joint chiefs of staff official said at a briefing.

Knee Pain Screenings Offered To Help Determine If New York Metro Area Residents Qualify For Popular Treatment

Knee pain sufferers have limited time to claim knee pain screening to see if all-natural knee arthritis treatment might work for them

If you qualify for this treatment, it might be one of the happiest days of your life.

That's because, for the past year and a half, hundreds of knee pain sufferers have flocked to NY Pain MD New York City.

That's when their specially trained-doctors added Hyalgan treatments to their already successful comprehensive knee pain relief program.

Viscosupplementation is unique because - even-though it is manufactured by a pharmaceutical company, it is NOT considered a drug because it is a natural substance with an incredible story.

Why So Many Want It

You see, when you suffer with arthritis - the lubricating fluid (synovial fluid) in your knee joint dries up.

This means instead of gliding smoothly - your bones start to rub and grind against each other.

This causes a little pain in the beginning - but over time the pain steadily gets worse until it is excruciating.

Like "Joint Oil"

Viscosupplementation works so well because it is like 'joint oil." It is a natural substance that contains one of the natural building blocks of the synovial fluid that lubricates your knee.

Scientists and researchers discovered this natural building block to synovial fluid in the rooster's comb - that big red thing on top of the roosters head. It is extracted from the roosters comb, purified and concentrated. They have also developed medical lubricants that are also natural but made a bit like yogurt and "cultured" into highly effective arthritis pain-fighting medical lubricants.

When introduced directly into your knee joint, it is like squirting oil on a rusty door hinge.

Viscosupplementation allows your joints to glide more smoothly eliminating a lot of the rubbing, grinding and pain.

Can Supplements Do The Same Thing?

No. Glucosamine and chondroitin and other supplements are much different. You can only get this from a doctor and it often helps knee pain sufferers who got limited or no success from glucosamine and chondroitin. Beware of unsubstantiated claims made by supplements to do what this advanced medical procedure does.

Why You Should Try This Even If You've Already Had Similar Treatments Without Results...

"We have been able to help so many knee pain sufferers - even many who have already tried other treatments like Synvisc, Supartz, Orthovisc and even Hyalgan. This is because our treating doctors always use "Precision Arthritis Targeting Technology". This allows us to place the Viscosupplementation exactly where is needs to be. Studies show doctors doing joint injections without technology can miss the joint up to 30% of the time." noted the Director of Center

NY Pain MD is a state of the art medical facility offering only the best technology.

And that's not all :

"Every case is individual. Some patients get quite a bit of relief right away - others take a little more time. But most have been extremely happy. We've noted results lasting no less than 6 months for many but up to 2 years for some patients.. Patients who were suffering for years with bad knee pain are getting their lives back... going for walks again and exercising. It's amazing to see. They tell all their friends - that's why we are swarmed. After getting treatment and feeling better, many patients have decided to cancel their total knee replacement surgeries." added the director.

How To Find Out If It Can HelpYou?

If you have knee pain, the NY Pain MD doctors would like to invite you for a no-obligation screening to see if you are a candidate for their treatments using Precision Arthritis Targeting Technology.

Many Insurance Plans Participate:
Most Out-Of-Network Insurance Plans
United Healthcare In & Out Of Network (except the Community Plan) Traditional Medicare • AARP Medicare Most Union Plans • Transit Worker Plans
Work Related Injuries/Work Comp
Auto Accident plans
Out of newtork:
Aetna • Cigna • Empire • Oxford • Ghi • 1199 Blue Cross Blue Shield & others
EZ payment plans and financing also available*

Advanced Medical Technology Can Make All The Difference: This advanced Precision Arthritis Targeting Technology using fluorososcopic imaging allows doctors to see directly into the knee joint so treatments are precise and the FDA approved lubricating medicine actually goes EXACLTY where it is supposed to. Studies show that procedures done without this technology can miss the joint up to 30% of the time. This is one reason Viscosupplementation may not have worked for you in the past. NY Pain MD uses this P.A.T. Imaging Technology. with each and every treatment.

All you have to do is call 800-227-KNEE (5633) right now and when the scheduling specialist answers the phone tell her you would like your no obligation "Knee Pain Screening." The doctors at NY Pain MD can only accept a limited amount of new patients each month for this screening - so if you are interested please call now. Your no obligation screening will only take about 25-30 minutes... you will get all your questions answered and leave knowing if you have possibly found the solution to your knee pain.

And here's something really important - Viscosupplementation treatments are covered by most insurance, union plans and even medicare. To schedule your no obligation screening or if you have any questions:

Call: 800 227 KNEE

Are You Qualified For Knee Arthritis Screening With NYC Pain MD?

- Do you have pain and osteoarthritis (arthritis) of the knee?
- Have you tried other treatments such as NSAIDS and other anti-inflamatory medications without success?
- Have you already tried viscosupplementation (Hyalgan, Suparz, Synvisc) without satisfactory results?

If you answered yes to any of these questions - give NY Pain MD a call and schedule your no obligation knee pain screening

Baby Boomers May Avoid Knee Surgery With Modern Arthritis Treatments

Doctors say these two factors are the keys to knee arthritis treatment success and relieving pain without surgery

By Matt Edgar

America's Health Writer

New York City - Everyone has said it at one time or another. If I had only known about "this" sooner - things would be very different today.

That's what many knee arthritis pain sufferers are saying about this technology and treatment.

"We all know that countless lives are being saved every year because of early detection and better treatment" noted the clinic director at the NY Pain MD in New York City. "The same holds true for treating arthritis pain. I believe we are having so much success at NY Pain MD because of two factors: One is we are using advanced medical technology and treatments a lot of clinics do not use. And second, the word has spread to our community and so many knee arthritis sufferers are coming in sooner. And the earlier we can treat knee arthritis - the better the results. The key to trying to avoid knee replacement surgery is doing the correct treatment as soon as possibly"

What is the "correct treatment?"

"That depends," said the director. "There is no one answer when it comes to medical conditions. Knee arthritis is no different. That's why, if you have knee pain, you should have it evaluated by a doctor who deals with and treats knee pain every day," added the director.

For many knee arthritis pain sufferers the right treatment is Viscosupplementation whereby a preparation of Hyaluronic acid a gel-like FDA approved medicine is applied directly into the knee joint using Precision Arthritis Targeting Technology.

Hyaluronic acid is the natural lubricant and shock absorber of your joints and is found to be decreased in arthritis sufferers. This is similar to running your without oil. Obviously, the sooner you put oil back in the car - the less damage will be done. That's why some doctors feel early viscosupplecosupplementation gets the best results and is so important for avoiding surgery.

The director believes one of the most important factors for the success of viscosupplementation is making sure you are getting it into the joint space precisely. That's why the doctors at NY Pain MD use advanced imaging technology to apply *Precision Arthritis Targetin*g during every treatment.

A device called the "C-Arm" allows the doctor to see into the joint and actually watch the medicine be applied exactly where it is supposed to. Research shows that performing procedures without Precision Arthritis Targeting (P.A.T.T.)can result in missing the joint space as much as 30% of the time. If you had viscosupplementation treatments without Presision Arthritis Targeting Technology and did not get good results - this may be why.

"If you have knee arthritis pain, viscosupplementation might be the answer you are looking for. The keys are to not wait, get a good evaluation from an expert and make sure precision arthritis targeting is used to make sure you have the best chance for success."

Can This Be Avoided? Total knee replacement is serious surgery requiring months of rehabilitation. Some doctors think modern treatments done early enough can keep baby boomers from going under the knife.

Everyone Wants Proof: In the artist simulated drawings above, picture #1 is a normal, pain-free knee. There is no arthritis and the knee can move and bend freely without pain.

Pain - The red is a knee joint with painful osteoarthritis. With progressive "drying out", arthritis causes the joint space to decrease and an array of symptoms which may include grinding, stiffness, decreased motion, bone spurs, swelling and a lot of pain.

Successful Treatment - Treatment (blue) being applied directly into the knee joint using Precision Arthritis Targeting Technology. Advanced imaging allows treatments to be as precise as possible. Viscosupplementation can lubricate the joint and decrease pain.

Failed Treatment - the medicine misses the joint space. Research shows this occurs up to 30% of the time without the use of Precision Arthritis Targeting Technology to guide the injection. This is why prior treatment may not have worked for you.

Lady Gaga and Taylor Kinney (probably) most definitely broke up

ALL PHOTOS GETTY IMAGES

After five years together, Taylor Kinney and Lady Gaga are calling it quits.

The "Born This Way" songstress was spotted without her engagement ring in Malibu last week, setting off some alarm bells. Bad time to "forget" your ring, Gaga? The day was coincidentally her beau's 35th birthday. According to TMZ's sources, the pair went their separate ways earlier this month. Sad face.

Questions remain about why the lovebirds have split. The duo met on the set of Gaga's 2011 music video for "Yoü and I," and though they have kept their relationship relatively out of the public eye, the past few weeks have been particularly radio-silent—"Chicago Fire" actor Kinney has been notably absent from Gaga's social media, and vice versa.

Gaga, for one, has flown the coop, taking refuge in Cabo while the story publicly unfolds.

Can Taylor Swift sue Kim and Kanye?

Late Sunday night Kim Kardashian West posted a Snapchat video that broke the internet. But did she and husband Kanye West break the law? According to California law, it is a crime to record any confidential communication, including a telephone call, without the consent of all parties.

What isn't clear is if West recorded the call from California or from somewhere else.

In a conversation with Time Magazine, privacy-law expert Ari Ezra Waldman said, "When the two people are in different states, it's hard to know whether federal or state law will apply."

West also has to prove whether or not he got Swift's permission to record the phone call.

Let's see whether or not this "Bad Blood" feud will actually go to court.

Leslie Jones harassed by racist tweets

It's been a tough few days for Leslie Jones. The "Ghostbusters" star broke down after she was attacked by a slew of racist and misogynistic tweets about her new film. Fed up by the hate and the unwillingness of the social media site to do anything to stop them, the 48-year-old actress quit Twitter on Monday. "I leave Twitter tonight with tears and a very sad heart," she posted. "All this cause I did a movie. You can hate the movie but the sh— I got today…wrong".

But this is a bittersweet tale. In the wake of these hateful tweets came an outpouring of support and love for Jones, along with, of course, a trending hashtag #LoveForLeslieJ.

Celebrities like Anna Kendrick, Chrissy Teigen, Judd Apatow and "Ghostbusters" director Paul Feig gave words of encouragement for the actress. The real good news: Twitter CEO Jack Dorsey contacted Jones and released a statement on Buzzfeed that site is taking action on many of the accounts.

‘Page Six TV’ is your new guilty pleasure

John Fugelsang is the host of “Page Six TV” airing Monday nights on FOX. GETTY IMAGES

John Fugelsang spills tabloid secrets.

JENNIFER LOGUE
jennifer.logue@metro.us

The New York Post’s infamous gossip column and website, Page Six, has expanded to television with “Page Six TV” on Fox, airing nationally on Monday evenings. Taped in front of a live studio audience, the show will deliver all the latest news in entertainment, culture, real estate and politics. We chat with host John Fugelsang, who’s also been a regular on CNN and MSNBC, about why some celebs leak their own stories to the media and how gossip is like “mental comfort food.”

Why do you think people are so obsessed with celebrity culture?
Life is hard, and being a grownup is a monster and we are in very troubling, scary times. Sometimes you need to occupy the other hemisphere of your brain. Most of it is nonsense but a lot of it is mental comfort food.

So what can we expect from “Page Six TV”? When I first heard about it, I thought of TMZ. How will it be different from that?
This is going to be different from anything else on the air right now. We have a very, very talented cast of regulars including Mario Cantone, who is one of the funniest guys in the game. We have Bevy Smith, who is an expert in this field, and a live audience. I think a lot of folks who are into politics who tuned into “The Daily Show” will find that even if you are not into the celebrity story, [they] will still tune it because it is so damn funny.

The live audience angle definitely ups the ante.
That’s what made me want to come to the callback.

So who is your favorite Hollywood couple of the moment?
Let me think about that. Wow, you stumped me. I’m used to making fun of these people. I would like to say my favorite Hollywood couple is Bruce Springsteen and Patti Scialfa, but they live in New Jersey.

I consider them Hollywood. Bruce is an A-lister.
OK, I would say that one then. I have come to really admire Angelina Jolie and Brad Pitt for the way they just do their thing and not care about the haters.

Do you think some celebrities enjoy being gossiped about?
Not only do some of them enjoy being gossiped about, a lot of them leak their stuff themselves. One of the things I have found fascinating is trying to get experts to figure out which one of these sources are behind these celebrities’ back or if it is the actual spokespeople for the celebrities dropping hints here and there. A lot of this is self-promotion, which is part of the game and I respect that, but it sure is funny.

What are some easy ways to get into a tabloid?
It is really easy to get into a tabloid. First, become famous. Even become famous for no reason. These days it’s better to be famous for no reason. We are leading the world in people who are famous for no reason right now in America. Once you are famous do something to enjoy yourself and people will start talking about it.

Sweetie darling, everything's still 'Absolutely Fabulous'

Jennifer Saunders, left, and Joanna Lumley bring back Edina and Patsy for "Absolutely Fabulous: The Movie." FOX SEARCHLIGHT

Joanna Lumley and Jennifer Saunders talk about staying the same for their "AbFab" movie.

MONICA WEYMOUTH
@MetroNewYork
letters@metro.us

It's been awhile since the world first met Edina Monsoon and Patsy Stone.

Nursing hangovers from the '80s, the main characters of "Absolutely Fabulous" stumbled their way into existence in 1992, quickly winning hearts despite having very few, if any, redeeming qualities. While much has changed since the now-iconic BBC show ended, fans will be delighted to know that the leading ladies were too strung out to get the memo in time for their big-screen debut, "Absolutely Fabulous: The Movie."

"They're still living the way they always did — for the next drink, the next thrill, the next thing to buy," says Joanna Lumley, who plays Patsy, a chain-smoking, vodka-swilling fashion editor with a sneer as big as her hair.

"They still exist thanks to Botox and every collagen implant you could imagine, but things are moving very, very fast around them. It's a very different world now, and they haven't really adapted to it."

The "Absolutely Fabulous" movie presents a familiar scenario for the duo: Edina's (played by writer and creator Jennifer Saunders) PR career is in peril as usual, and Patsy teeters a fine line between helping her best friend and enabling her fellow trainwreck. The film is over the top, yes, and it's packed with star cameos, including good-sport Kate Moss and Stella McCartney, a natural scene-stealer. But at its heart it's an oddly endearing story about ride-or-die best friends who are too stoned to care about who's watching on social media.

"Eddy and Patsy actually, truly need each other — they don't exist without the other," explains Saunders. "They prop each other up, good things and bad things. They're fairly unattractive and unsuccessful people, except in their own relationship. One without the other is like a table without legs."

So, what's next for Eddy and Patsy? Although L.A. seems to be the natural habitat for two materialistic, codependent party girls, don't hold your breath for a stateside sequel. "People who are actually famous tend to be employed and working during the day, not drinking," says Lumley. "Los Angeles would never work."

GETTY IMAGES

Fabulous poll: Stay or remain?

We had to ask — would Eddy and Patsy have voted to Brexit? "They wouldn't have even known if they were in or out in the first place," says Lumley. "I'm sure they haven't voted for anything. They would have gone out that night, gotten absolutely stoned and not cared at all. As long as they could go to France once in awhile, they're fine."

The problems with poor-quality vinyl windows:

- Even through normal temperature changes, poor-quality vinyl windows and patio doors can expand, contract, warp and leak.
- If their seals break and the insulating gas escapes, your energy-efficiency goes out the window.

The solution is our Fibrex® window:

- We're the replacement window division of Andersen, and they developed our Fibrex material to meet their superior standards.
- Fibrex is so strong it helps prevent glass movement, seal failure, and discomfort in your home.
- Our Fibrex material is twice as strong as vinyl, and—unlike wood—requires virtually no maintenance.*

Step up your summer party

Dannijo designers Danielle and Jodie Snyder elevate our soirees.

ALISON GOLDBERG
@MetroNewYork
letters@metro.us

As successful jewelry designers behind the accessory brand Dannijo, Danielle and Jodie Snyder's work often takes them to glamorous social gatherings. But when it comes to their personal party style, the two prefer laid-back get-togethers.

"We like intimate parties at people's homes, where you can get cozy and stay for a long period of time says," Jodie.

But the ladies' version of a house party is far from just uncorking wine and slicing up cheese.

Last month, the duo hosted an elaborate soiree at Cedar Lake in NYC with Cointreau where they showed off some fancy cocktails that would make even the dullest small talk sparkle.

We made sure to mingle with the Snyder sisters to find out the perfect recipe for a killer shindig.

What does every fun party need?
Jodie: It's really about the hostess. So, we have the ambiance, flowers, candles, music, lighting, an amazing guest list, good food and drinks — you don't want to run out of those.
Danielle: Definitely include special cocktails and interactive elements. For this soiree we incorporated a make-your-own [cocktail bar]. Jodie and I love the Rickey because it's simple and easy to make. We brought tons of garnishes like raspberries, strawberries, cucumber and basil. We love conversations, so anything that fosters conversation and adds to the flow of the space.

What tips would you give to someone planning a party?
Danielle: It's really about making the space your own. So, even if you have a tiny apartment, incorporate some of the elements like old vintage bottles [to create] a bar. Also, definitely incorporate some beautiful candles on the table and some throws from an African bazaar or some great textiles. Just have fun with the elements that speak to your aesthetic. Jodie and I love creating vignettes and telling different stories in the space.

As jewelry designers what are some baubles you suggest for a party?
Jodi: We love statement earrings. We only wear Dannijo to parties. [Laughs] No, I'm kidding! Right now everybody loves a choker, so we're seeing a lot of those as well.

What's do you think is the perfect outfit to wear to a summer party?
Danielle: We both love vintage. We both wear a lot of Victorian lace. Also, just bright colors. For a soiree, you always want to wear something that you'll be comfortable in from the start to the end.

Inside Look: Ditmas Park home asks nearly $2M

A wrap-around porch, large backyard and two-car garage — sounds like a home in the quaint suburbs, not one just blocks from the Q train.

Ditmas Park's scenic streets of single-family homes are an easy way to forget you're in New York City — even Brooklyn.

One of these well-maintained homes dating to 1907 is listed for $1.9 million.

The single-family residence features seven bedrooms and three-and-a-half bathrooms on three levels. Though it boasts vintage charm, including an original staircase, it also has an open floor plan and modern air conditioning.

A wood-burning fireplace with marble mantle and wood-paneled dining room with bay window flow into the eat-in kitchen with granite counters and Viking stove.

The outdoor space, with an "unusually deep 120-foot lot," is also what makes this home a charmer. There is a landscaped garden, driveway, two-car garage with new roof and recently replaced cedar-wood fence on the side and rear yard.

This house proves that not only does a tree grows in Brooklyn, but they can surround your own free-standing home.

The eat-in kitchen features granite counters.

NYCFC's Frank Lampard gets a shot on goal against Sporting KC. GETTY IMAGES

Lampard, Harrison the backbone of NYCFC during run

City has won five of their last six matches.

TONY WILLIAMS
sports@metro.us

David Villa is the top gunner on New York City FC and is leading MLS in goals with 13. But if City is to continue its torrid stretch, it is going to need continued help from a surging duo — Frank Lampard and Jack Harrison.

City (8-6-6, 33 points) has been on a splendid pace lately, winning five of their last six matches, including a franchise-best four-game winning streak.

It's no coincidence that the streak coincided with the arrival of Harrison to the regular rotation and the resurgence of Lampard, who endured a nasty slump.

Lampard, a Brit who along with Villa and Andrea Pirlo is one of the high-priced designated European stars, endured a season-opening slump that made many City fans wish they could return to sender.

His second-half goal in NYCFC's recent 3-1 win over the Montreal Impact, though, was his fifth strike in his past six games, as City has now captured a league-leading sixth road triumph of this season.

Harrison got his goal late in first-half stoppage time. It was his third tally in just seven starts.

Manager Patrick Vieira has been thrilled with the play of both his sterling 19-year-old rookie and the embattled leader, but noted that as well as City has been playing of late, there's still plenty more on which to improve.

"I still believe there are some parts of the game where we really need to improve," Vieira said, even admitting that Harrison, the former Manchester United academy star, still gives away the ball more than he'd prefer. "We are more solid as a team, and I'm really pleased with where we are at the moment. But we are not perfect yet."

Not perfect by a long shot, but the drastic turnaround has been striking. This is the same squad that couldn't buy a win just a month ago — whether it was in MLS play or the Lamar Hunt U.S. Open Cup action, where they were bested by the North American Soccer League's New York Cosmos.

The hot streak comes at a very important time for NYCFC, as they prepare to face their cross-river rivals New York Red Bulls (8-9-4, 28 points), July 24, in Harrison, New Jersey. City has been a member of MLS for only two seasons, and during that time, the first four meetings between these two franchises were all Red Bulls — including a demoralizing 7-0 win at Yankee Stadium, May 21, which tied the league mark for most lopsided victory. City finally exacted some revenge — and earned its first-ever win over the Red Bulls — with a 2-0 tally, July 3.

Harrison led the way in that match with a goal and an assist — with the score coming just eight minutes into the contest. Sidelined by injury for most of the season's early stages, the rookie missed that embarrassing loss to the Red Bulls. But since healing and becoming a larger cog in the City's machine, Harrison has been a revelation.

His wisdom also belies his youth, as he knows this recent tear can end any time and could put NYCFC right back to where they were just a month ago, looking up at the standings.

"I think we're starting to come together more as a team now and it's showing in the way we play," Harrison said. "I think it's important to just keep going. Just don't stop now and keep going forward from here. [Montreal] was a good win. They're a good side. But we need to continue to work hard."

Blue notes:

- Despite his scorching play as of late, Lampard was left off the MLS's All-Star roster. A team of MLS All-Stars are announced every year to face a Premier League team, and this year it'll be Arsenal. Villa and Pirlo, however, have made the roster.

Mark Collins was a standout cornerback with the Giants. GETTY IMAGES

Former Giants CB Collins thinks team is playoff-bound

The two-time Super Bowl champ likes the Giants' chances in 2016.

KRISTIAN DYER
@KristianRDyer
sports@metro.us

Mark Collins thinks that the New York Giants have potential this offseason, especially after spending some major dinero in free agency.

The Giants owned the worst-ranked total defense in the entire league last season, but over $200 million was spent by general manager Jerry Reese to upgrade the unit. This meant big names, ranging from defensive tackle Damon Harrison to cornerback Janoris Jenkins and edge rusher Olivier Vernon, coming to New York. The unit should be better, if not vastly improved, and in the eyes of the former Giants defensive back, this could lead the team to the playoffs for the first time since the 2011 season.

His concern is the protection of quarterback Eli Manning, who is coming off of another Pro Bowl season.

"I hope so, I think right now, the soft spot is probably the offensive line," Collins said in a recent interview with Michael Minervini of NFL Draft Bible and NUC Sports. "Eli, I think he'll do fantastic. I think Eli probably has three to five years left in him. Defensively, of course, they bolstered the secondary, could probably use another linebacker. I think they'll do pretty well."

Collins had a 13-year career in the NFL that began with seven seasons in the Giants organization.

Only one thing about the Giants offseason that Collins wasn't a fan of the way that the organization handled the exodus of former head coach Tom Coughlin. After four seasons without a playoff appearance, the popular and successful Coughlin was let go by the team.

> "Eli, I think he'll do fantastic. He probably has three to five years left in him."
> Mark Collins, on Eli Manning

Collins wishes that the man who won two Super Bowls with the Giants was allowed one more shot to leave as a winner.

"One thing I didn't like was with what happened with Tom, how it played out with Tom," Collins said. "You want him to go out on his own terms and not be pushed out."
